

2024 Tax Guide

TAX INFORMATION

Eaton Vance is pleased to provide you with the 2024 Tax Guide. We hope you find this information helpful as you prepare your 2024 tax returns.

Included in your tax packet, you'll find only those forms and inserts that apply to you.

Please consult your tax advisor with any specific questions regarding this information or how it impacts your tax returns.

For additional tax information about your Eaton Vance mutual funds, visit the Tax Center at <https://www.eatonvance.com/tax-information>.

Form 1099-R

WHO RECEIVES IT: Shareholders who received a distribution from their fund held in a Eaton Vance Individual Retirement Account or 403(b)(7) Tax Sheltered Account where BNY serves as the named custodian of the account in 2024.

WHAT IT SHOWS: All gross distribution amounts from your fund and the amount of federal and/or state income tax withheld, if any. Depending upon the account type and nature of the distribution, the form may also report the taxable amount of the distribution. The type of retirement plan distribution is reported through the use of distribution codes in Box 7, which are defined on the back of the tax form.

Form 5498

WHO RECEIVES IT: Shareholders who contributed to their fund held in a Eaton Vance Individual Retirement Account or 403(b)(7) Tax Sheltered Account where BNY serves as the named custodian of the account for the tax year of 2024. The form also reports rollovers and conversions.

WHAT IT SHOWS: All contributions, rollovers and conversions in your retirement account. Note that 5498s are generated at the end of May, after the federal tax filing deadline due to your ability to make prior-year contributions up to the federal tax filing deadline in mid-April.

Form 1099-DIV

WHO RECEIVES IT: Shareholders who received more than $10 in taxable distributions and/or nondividend distributions from their fund in 2024. Shareholders will not receive a Form 1099-DIV for their retirement accounts.

WHAT IT SHOWS: All taxable distributions from your fund (including any capital gains) and nondividend distributions (including return of capital).

Form 1099-B

WHO RECEIVES IT: Shareholders who sold or exchanged shares of their fund in 2024 (for non-retirement accounts).

WHAT IT SHOWS: The proceeds from any redemptions and exchanges from your fund and the amount of federal income tax withheld, if any.

For shares purchased prior to January 1, 2012 that have cost basis information available (generally referred to as noncovered securities), Form 1099-B will show any gain or loss from the sale using the average cost method. We calculate cost basis using the Single Category Average Cost method. To calculate your cost basis with this method, we take the total cost of all shares purchased prior to January 1, 2012, including any purchases through reinvestment of dividends, capitals gains or return of capital distributions, and divide this amount by your total number of shares.

For shares purchased on or after January 1, 2012 that have cost basis information available (generally referred to as covered securities), the fund is required to report to the Internal Revenue Service the cost basis information for sale transactions of shares. Shareholders may elect to have one of several cost basis methods applied to their account and shown on their Form 1099-B, including average cost, FIFO, or some other specific identification method. Average cost will be used as the default cost basis method unless otherwise instructed by you. Average cost for these shares are calculated separately from the average cost of shares purchased prior to January 1, 2012 even though they may appear on the same Form 1099-B.

Cost basis information may not be available for all accounts. To determine your cost basis you may need your transaction information. Please see your account statements and consult your tax advisor.

Additional tax information

Tax-exempt funds

Tax-Exempt interest earned is reportable on Form 1099-DIV. While still tax-exempt, the dividends must be reported on your tax return. Please note that, for certain taxpayers, a portion of the tax-exempt interest dividends may be required to be taken into account as a tax preference item for purposes of federal alternative minimum tax (AMT). A breakdown of the source of income by state for the national tax-exempt funds is provided at <https://www.eatonvance.com/tax-information> as an additional service by the Eaton Vance Funds. This detailed state information is not reported to the IRS.

Eaton Vance tax-exempt funds may have paid taxable distributions in 2024. If you received reportable distributions, including capital gain distributions, in the aggregate of $10 or more in 2024, these will be reported on your 2024 Form 1099-DIV. Capital gains distributions are taxable even if paid by a tax-exempt fund. Also note that the redemption or exchange of shares in a tax-exempt mutual fund in 2024 is considered a taxable event, and the proceeds are reported to the IRS on Form 1099-B.

Reallocation of distributions: Return of capital redesignation

A portion of the income dividends paid by certain Eaton Vance Funds may have been redesignated as nontaxable return of capital. Your Form 1099-DIV for these funds reports the proper amount of “nondividend distributions” for income tax purposes. If a return of capital was reported to you, an adjustment to the basis of your shares will be necessary. Please consult your tax advisor for further information.

Foreign tax credit

For 2024, certain funds have elected to pass through to their shareholders the opportunity to claim foreign taxes paid by the funds as either a credit or a deduction. As a result of this election, your share of foreign taxes paid has been reported in Box 7 on your Form 1099-DIV (“Foreign tax paid”) as well as included in your gross income in Box 1a and 1b on your Form 1099-DIV. For informational purposes, the foreign sourced income relating to these foreign taxes is reflected below:

FUND	% OF BOX 1A THAT IS FOREIGN SOURCED INCOME	% OF BOX 1B THAT IS FOREIGN SOURCED INCOME
Emerging and Frontier Countries Equity Fund	99.99%	99.99%
Emerging Markets Debt Opportunities Fund	95.60%	95.60%
Emerging Markets Local Income Fund	99.99%	99.99%
Global Macro Absolute Return Advantage Fund	81.23%	81.23%
Greater China Growth Fund	99.59%	99.59%

Parametric Tax-Managed Emerging Markets Fund	99.64%	99.64%
Parametric Tax-Managed International Equity Fund	99.99%	99.99%

Although shareholders generally no longer need country-by-country information due to changes in the foreign tax credit provisions of the tax law, the country-by-country information on the amounts of foreign sourced income is available by request.

U.S. Government Income percentages

The portion of dividends paid by your fund that is derived from U.S. Government obligations is generally exempt from state and local income taxes. In many states, income derived from other government agencies is also free from state income taxes. The percentage of 2024 dividends paid by your fund attributable to government and agency obligations is listed on the next page. Primary obligations represent direct investments in Treasury securities, while secondary obligations are direct investments in generally qualifying U.S. agency obligations.

Only those funds that have earned income from U.S. Government obligations in 2024 are listed on the next page. If applicable, these percentages should be applied to the amount shown in Box 1a on your Form 1099-DIV. For specific information regarding your state's exemption provisions, please consult your tax advisor or local taxing authority.

Qualified Dividend Income

Your Form 1099-DIV reports in Box 1b the amount of qualified dividends that were paid to you in 2024. Please note, however, that although these dividends are eligible for consideration as qualified dividends, there are additional rules (including, but not limited to, a holding period test) that must be met at the shareholder level in order for these dividends to be taxable at a lower tax rate.

The schedule below lists the qualifying dividend income percentages for each of the dividends paid during the year by funds that had dividend income at the fund level. Please consult with your tax advisor as to the appropriate use of these percentages.

There is no assurance that a mutual fund will achieve its investment objective. Funds are subject to market risk, which is the possibility that the market values of securities owned by the fund will decline and that the value of fund shares may therefore be less than what you paid for them. Market values can change daily due to economic and other events (e.g. natural disasters, health crises, terrorism, conflicts and social unrest) that affect markets, countries, companies or governments. It is difficult to predict the timing, duration, and potential adverse effects (e.g. portfolio liquidity) of events. Accordingly, you can lose money investing in mutual funds.
