

Eaton Vance Open-End Funds 2024 Exempt Interest Earned by State

TAX INFORMATION

Generally, the income dividends paid during 2024 by the various Eaton Vance municipal bond Open-End Funds were exempt-interest dividends, exempt from federal income tax. However, income dividends paid by these funds may be subject to state or local income taxes and the federal Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT).

The following schedule shows, by state, the source of the income earned by the various municipal bond Open-End Funds. This schedule may be useful in preparing your state and local income tax returns. This detailed state information is not being reported to the IRS, and is provided to you as an additional service by the Eaton Vance Open-End Funds.

If applicable, you can determine the amount of dividends earned from investments in your state by multiplying the exempt-interest dividends you received during the year by the percentage shown next to the appropriate state. The portion of any of the funds' exempt-interest dividends subject to the AMT is also listed inside.

Tax-exempt interest earned (including exempt interest dividends from Open-End Funds) is reportable on Form 1099-DIV. While still generally tax-exempt, the dividends must be reported on your tax return.

The Eaton Vance municipal Open-End Funds listed below paid taxable distributions in 2024. If you were paid these distributions, they have been reported on Form 1099-DIV.

There is no assurance that a fund will achieve its investment objective. Funds are subject to market risk, which is the possibility that the market values of securities owned by the fund will decline and that the value of fund shares may therefore be less than what you paid for them. Market values can change daily due to economic and other events (e.g. natural disasters, health crises, terrorism, conflicts and social unrest) that affect markets, countries, companies or governments. It is difficult to predict the timing, duration, and potential adverse effects (e.g. portfolio liquidity) of events. Accordingly, you can lose money investing in funds.

Please consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of any fund carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other information about each fund.
